

Celebrating the Marvelous M's at

10 Westover Road

Sunday, August 29, 2010

4 pm to 7 pm

The Rensselaer County Historical Society invites you to a third party in our series celebrating the Marvelous and Meaningful contributions Made RCHS by a few people whose naMes begin with M.

Our Marvelous M celebration continues on Sunday, August 29th with a reception at the aMazing Stanton P. Lee designed Mansion at 10 Westover Road, Troy, graciously opened to us for the occasion by the owners, Ben and Lynda Sokolowski, so that we can honor Margaret Story and M. Barbara Urban, both of whom play Major roles as Volunteers Extraordinaire, not just at RCHS but also in the wider coMMunity. The party is being underwritten in part by Anne Carroll, Carroll Realty.

Margaret J. Story has been a key staff MeMber at Cooperative Extension and a coMMunity volunteer for Many years, assisting at RCHS in Many roles since her retireMent from CEO in 1998. She has transforMed herself into Bridget for costuMed school prograMs at the Hart-Cluett House, been a MeMber of the Collections ManageMent CoMMittee and long-tiMe Collections Volunteer, Making Myriad padded hangers and Masterfully tackling costuMe rack covers to protect historic clothing collections for the future. She is often the first one to volunteer to help with prograMs, Mailings, special events and More. She currently serves on the RCHS Board of Trustees as Vice President

M. Barbara Urban has also been active as a coMMunity volunteer and came to RCHS as a researcher and Board MeMber after her retireMent from the Troy School SysteM in 1998. She is a core volunteer with the RCHS research library, designing and Managing library volunteer training, working with the Many aMazing collections that tell the story of the county's history. Her Most recent project was the successful May 2010 syMposiuM on the architecture of Troy architect Stanton P. Lee. She has gathered Much new inforMation on this iMportant shaper of our coMMunity's built environMent.
